The Making of South Africa: Culture and Politics Aran S. MacKinnon Ph.D.

This new history of South Africa provides a significant and unique addition to the existing one volume texts by emphasizing African contributions and encompassing the previously hidden voices. This book incorporates important new perspectives on South African geography and the spatial dimensions of segregation and apartheid, environmental studies, and the dynamic literature on identities and ethnicity. The book also highlights how Europeans and Africans shaped the environment, politics and the economy to develop a complex multi-racial nation. For readers who want a detailed understanding of all the forces that have shaped South Africa to date.
