70 years ago, humans destroyed the Earth.

Only a handful were rescued.

The survivors now live with knowledge of life throughout the galaxy and are recolonizing on a fragment planet known as Rashada. But humans are despised, loathed for their past mistakes and exist as a virtual sub-species to their alien neighbors.

Before the destruction, Mich Sandstone was one of the first humans to undergo an experimental cryogenics trial that was only supposed to last a few days. He finds himself awakening aboard an alien starship, surrounded by creatures and technology that he never thought possible.

The human from the past must find the power within himself to restore the galaxy's faith in humans and stop humanity from destroying itself for a second time.
